Što bi moglo povezivati jednog pjesnika, jednog pakistanskog doseljenika i dvije 80-godišnje sestre koje pružaju pogrebne usluge? Kakva je veza između Cacoyiannisa koji režira Lysistraty, žene koja pleše u kemijskoj čistionici i starca koji sa svog prozora gleda kako život prolazi? U jednoj zabačenoj, unutarnjoj ulici Atene spajaju se i razilaze ljudi koji su različiti kulturološki, etnički i sociološki, dok prolaze kroz male i velike događaje svoje svakodnevice. Film govori koliko je vrijedno biti različit i u isto vrijeme dijeliti univerzalne ljudske potrebe, nade i strahove.

What could connect a poet, a Pakistani immigrant and two 80 years old sisters dispensing funeral offerings? What is the association between Cacoyiannis directing Lysistrata, the woman who dances in the dry cleaners and the old man who watches life go by from his open window? In an underdeveloped inner city street of Athens, culturally, ethnically and socially different people merge and diverge as they live their big and small events of their daily lives. A film about the value of being different and still sharing universal human needs, hopes and fears.
